1. Prep utensils

Preheat the oven to 180C. Line 2 large oven trays with baking paper.

2. Cook popcorn kernels

Heat 2 tbs vegetable oil in a large saucepan (see Kitchen note) over medium-high heat. Add the popcorn kernels, cover and gently shake the pan when they start to pop. Cook, shaking regularly, for 2-3 mins until the kernels have popped. Transfer the popcorn to a large bowl.

3. Make caramel

Add the peanuts to the popcorn and stir to combine. Put the cream, 220g (1 cup) brown sugar, 100g butter and 1 tsp salt in a small saucepan. Cook over medium-high heat, stirring, for 2-3 mins until the butter melts and the sugar dissolves. Bring to the boil and cook, without stirring, for 8-10 mins until the caramel is dark golden. Remove the pan from the heat.

4. Bake caramel popcorn

Carefully pour the caramel over the popcorn and stir until well combined. Spread the caramel popcorn in an even layer over the lined trays. Bake, swapping the trays halfway, for 8-10 mins until dark golden, crisp and dry to the touch.

5. Serve up

Cool the popcorn, then break into pieces. Enjoy straight away or store in airtight containers or glass jars at room temperature. Serves 3-4.

6. Kitchen note

A heavy-based saucepan is best for popcorn. To check if the pan is hot enough, add a few corn kernels to the hot oil. When they start to pop, the pan is ready. Remove them before adding the remaining kernels.
